

Chicago, IL., February 26, 2019 - DePaul, Barnes and Noble College, is hosting a book-signing event with scholars from the #1 Amazon Best Selling doctoral series The Refractive Thinker[®] on Friday, April 5th from 5:00 p.m. to 7 p.m. The DePaul University Barnes and Noble Bookstore is located at 1 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, IL, United States, 60604

Scholars attending include: Dr. Ada E. Crosby, Dr. Ivan Salaberrios, Dr. Julee H. Hafner, Dr. Frank Musmar, Dr. Barbara J. Yancy-Tooks, Dr. Evelyn Hollis, and Dr. Cheryl Lentz.

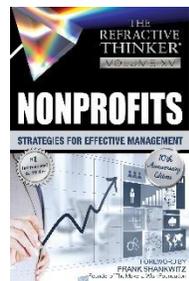

Photos –

<http://refractivethinker.com/wp-content/uploads/2019/02/Refractive-Thinker-XIV-Healthcare-front-cover-BS.jpg>

<http://refractivethinker.com/wp-content/uploads/2017/10/Refractive-Thinker-XV-NonProfits-front-coverIBS.jpg>

Released on August 16th, 2018, The Refractive Thinker[®] Vol XIV: HEALTHCARE: The Impact on Leadership, Business, and Education features Foreword writer, Dr. Gladys Taylor McGarey and contributing scholars as they discuss current research regarding health care and the impact on leadership, business, and education. This volume will continue to shape the conversation regarding the future success of the economy as part of leading the business and educational landscape as society navigates these turbulent waters. The authors will be available to sign books that will be available for purchase, as well as available for Q & A. Admission is free.

Released on November 1st, 2018, The Refractive Thinker[®] Vol XV: NONPROFITS: Strategies for Effective Management features Foreword writer, Frank Shankwitz - co founder of the Make a Wish Foundation and contributing doctoral scholars as they discuss research focused on nonprofit organizations and their specific needs regarding strategies for effective management. This volume will continue to shape the conversation of their future success and the latest best practices and proven strategies for success. The authors will be available to sign books that will be available for purchase, as well as available for Q & A. Admission is free.

According to Dr. Cheryl Lentz, Managing Editor, “To position yourself as an industry expert, a scholar can build a bridge from academia to the business world with a publishing solution. This is why we created the award winning and bestselling series called The Refractive Thinker[®], where we bring doctoral research to the business market place.”

As host of the event, trade manager, Ryan Smith, says hosting a book signing the first week of classes “ is a great opportunity for students and scholars to get together at the perfect time in order to strengthen each other.” This event will bring different people together for a unique event to celebrate the success of one of our local community members. And why the Chicago area is such a great place to attend college.

For more information, contact Ryan Smith, Trade Manager DePaul University Barnes and Noble Bookstore located at 1 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, IL, 60604. Phone: 1 312 362 8795

DEPAUL UNIVERSITY

Web: Web: Barnes and Noble – DePaul Center

<https://depaul-loop.bncollege.com/webapp/wcs/stores/servlet/BNCBHomePage?storeId=17051&catalogId=10001&langId=-1>

Facebook: Barnes and Noble – DePaul Center on FB

<https://www.facebook.com/BNDePaulCenter/?ref=bookmarks>

Email: RSMIT148@depaul.edu

For more information on The Refractive Thinker[®] visit www.RefractiveThinker.com

The Refractive Thinker[®]

About The Refractive Thinker[®]

The Refractive Thinker[®] Press is an award winning premier publishing solution providing the opportunity for doctoral scholars from around the globe to publish their research since 2008.

CONTACT:

Managing Editor: Dr. Cheryl Lentz

Email: drcheryllentz@gmail.com

Phone: 702.719.9214 (CST)

Web: <http://www.DrCheryllLentz.com>